

MODERATE FIRE DANGER

GUNNISON COUNTY EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT: MODERATE FIRE DANGER IN GUNNISON COUNTY

The warm, dry and windy weather has increased the fire danger in Gunnison County. There are currently NO fire restrictions in place; however, residents and visitors are advised to exercise extreme caution with campfires, charcoal grills and agricultural burning.

Outdoor enthusiasts:

- Clear flammable material away from campfires.
- Before lighting a fire, check current fire restriction information.
- Put out your campfire with water before you leave and make sure the ashes are cool to the touch. NEVER leave campfires unattended for any reason. Contain fires within rings, stoves, grills or fireplaces provided for that purpose.
- YOUR campfire is YOUR responsibility.
- Fireworks and other explosives are not allowed on any federal lands, including campgrounds and recreations areas.

State, federal and local agencies are monitoring the weather and fire conditions closely and regularly. If enacted, fire restrictions and bans will be strictly enforced. For current Gunnison County fire restriction information, helpful websites and information, visit Gunnison County Emergency Management's "Wildfire Info" website at <http://www.gunnisoncounty.org/fire>. Current Fire Restriction information for Gunnison County is also available via recorded message at 970-642-4690.

UNCOMMON WISDOM FOR NONPROFIT SUCCESS

Nonprofit board and staff members from the Western Slope are invited to "Uncommon Wisdom for Nonprofit Success," a workshop that will enable nonprofits to thrive in a time of ambiguity and uncertainty. It will be held on Friday, May 11, from 8:30-11:30 at the ICELab on the Western State Colorado University campus.

The guest presenter is Jason Berv, nationally-known educator, organizational development consultant, and leadership coach. Berv says: "This morning of 'uncommon wisdom' will help any staff or board member learn how to maximize resources, enhance morale and breathe new life into their nonprofit."

The cost is $35. To register, go to www.cfgv.org.

This is the first of a series of workshops that will help nonprofits in the region become increasingly focused and stable, continuing the impact of Rural Philanthropy Days. It is guided by a regional team of nonprofit board and staff members in concert with the Community Resource Center in Denver.
